BEGINNER SKIING: YOUR VERY FIRST SKI RUN

It's alright, we'll go easy on you. The priority is to have fun. Use these tips to prep yourself for your first ski experience and by the end of your ski-cation, you'll have mastered techniques like controlled stops and parallel skiing.

FUN FACT

Archaeologists have found recorded evidence that skiing was around even back in 5000 B.C.

GOAL

By the end of your ski-cation, we hope that beginners should have mastered techniques like downhill and parallel skiing.

THE BASICS

FIND THAT SWEET SPOT

- Get your first taste of skiing at resorts like Club Med Sahoro, Club Med Yabuli and Club Med Alpe d'Huez, which are renowned for having excellent facilities for beginners.

BABY, IT'S COLD OUTSIDE

- Stock up on clothing that's not just warm, but waterproof.
- If possible, acclimatize yourself beforehand by visiting indoor snow parks in your region.

LEAVE IT TO THE PROS

- Get equipment that best suits your build. If you're hiring equipment* from us, our staff will ensure that you're fitted with the right gear.
- Your Club Med package includes lessons on the slope. Master basic skiing and boarding techniques from internationally qualified ski and snowboard instructors.

SUNNY SKIES AHEAD

- You might only see snow for miles, but being on mountaintops means you can get sunburned easily. Remember to apply sunscreen before hitting the slopes.

TONE UP

- Being in shape means surviving those slopes longer. Here are a few warm ups you can do before strapping on your skis:
 - Leg Lifts
 - Squats
 - Spine twist

* Equipment hire at extra costs

INTERMEDIATE SKIING: TAKING IT TO THE NEXT LEVEL

Now you've started to get the hang of the slopes, it's time to put your new skills to the test. Here's what to keep in mind when you're fine-tuning your technique and tackling trickier grounds.

WHAT'S NEXT

BACK TO BASICS

- As confident as you might be about having conquered your basic techniques, a little refresher wouldn't hurt. As BASI ski instructor Steve Marsh says, "If you can nail all the basics really well, it will help you master the mountain better as you progress to intermediate skiing. A lot of people skip through things - for example, they might be a little lazy about standing on the outside ski - which will make steeper slopes hard."

FLEX ZONE

- It's all about flexion techniques. Turn your skis using your feet, and roll your ankles towards the upper slope.
- Always sustain a good bend (flex) in both ankles and knees.

SLIP AND SLIDE

- Take on slippery ice patches with the right posture by dragging the poles in the snow on either side of you.
- If you encounter tricky sections, learn to side-slip (inch your way slowly down, without sliding forwards or backwards).

FIND YOUR BALANCE

- Now you're in steeper terrain, it's all the more important to up your balance and coordination. Try cycling or hiking with a backpack before your ski holiday.

THE MIDDLE GROUND

- Keep an eye out for skiing spots that test your newfound skills, but don't push you beyond your limits. Consider Club Med Tomamu, the newest Club Med ski resort in Asia, an intermediate skier's haven. Also consider Paradiski, the largest combined ski area in Europe which is home to 4 Club Med resorts.

DON'T BE A BACKSEAT DRIVER

- It's a common error that every intermediate skier does at least once. Skiing in the backseat means leaning too far back as you go down the hill. Learn to put pressure on the front of your skis so you're better at speed on steeps, maintaining control through jumps and drops.

INSIDER TIP

Moderate downhill skiing burns an average of 400 calories an hour, while uphill cross-country skiing can burn up to 1,000 calories an hour. So don't feel bad about loading up at our buffets, dig in.

FUN FACT

The world record for longest ski jump is held by Stefan Kraft, for a jump of 253.5 meters.

ADVANCED SKIING: FEEL THE ADRENALINE

You're now a master of the sport, gliding effortlessly both on and off piste. Arm yourself with these handy tips and you're ready to take on the ultimate challenge: the world renowned black slopes.

PERFORMING YOUR BEST

GET REFRESHED

- Before you hit those black slopes, consider a quick refresher course to help brush up on technique.

TAKE IT SLOW

- Now you're in pro territory, you might be tempted to conquer as much ground as quickly possible, but always remember to listen to your body. "When you are on the slopes, don't overdo it: if you feel yourself flagging, just stop", says BASI instructor, Annabel Seele. "The minute you build up too much lactic acid and start to fade, your technique goes to pot; you fall into old bad habits and it only inhibits your progress."

THE RIGHT FIT

- Opt for stiffer, stronger skis. Tougher terrain means you'll be putting more pressure on your equipment.
- Ensure your DIN setting is not too high or low.

PLAN AHEAD

- Plan your first three turns before starting, then look ahead as you go. As instructor Annabel Seele says, "The first turn and a correct pole plant is key - it makes you start the process and get into a rhythm."
- Adjust your stance to fit snow conditions, especially when it's heavy or crusty on top.

THE BLACKLIST

- Black slopes like The Grand Couloir in Courchevel and Mont Vallon are favored by many advanced skiers.
- If you're looking for great off-piste slopes, try the Le Fornet Trees in Val d'Isere or La Plagne.
- Kick it up a notch at Club Med Tomamu and Club Med Yabuli in Asia, both known for its stunning white snowscapes.

SKIING WITH KIDS: WINTER FAMILY FUN

Whether you've got a young one who's never seen snow or a champion skier in your family, our runs have something for the whole family. By the end of your ski vacation, kids 4 years and above can glide home with different medals based on their ski levels - Class 1, 2, 3 and more.

FUN FACT

Astronaut Harrison Schmitt said that astronauts travelling to the moon should learn the art of cross country skiing as he believed that its techniques would make walking on the moon easier. He even envisioned 'lunar skiing holidays' in the future.

TIPS

GARDEN VARIETY

- Look out for resorts with nursery slopes and snow gardens. Snow gardens are areas designed to help little ones learn the basics in a safe environment. They're equipped with ski tows and magic carpets to make learning to ski even more fun.
- Choose a place like Tomamu with a wide range of easy runs to keep your kids engaged.
- Every Club Med ski resort in Asia comes with included Snow Garden facilities for first timers from ages 4 to 10. Included ski and snowboard classes begin at 4 and 8 years old respectively in Asia.

GO FOR RENTAL

- As your kids grow, rental equipment* gives you the flexibility to find what's right for them at every stage.
- Our resorts offer equipment* for rental by the day for all kinds of skiers.

THE EARLY BIRD

- Most ski lifts open at 9am, so be sure to get there early to beat the crowd and maximise your family ski day.

LAYER UP

- To help your child acclimatize to the cold, it's best to dress them in three separate layers. The first layer should be breathable and sweat-absorbent. The second layer should be something that insulates, like a sweater. The outer layer is the most important, so make sure it's something water and windproof, like a ski jacket. It's also a good idea to give them cosy headwear as 80% of the body's heat loss is through the head.
- If you are not looking to invest in a good ski jacket for your first ski vacation, fret not as our Asian ski resorts offer ski jackets and pants for rent too.

* Equipment hire at extra costs

JAPAN

Chase champagne powder and cultural discovery.

Japan is renowned for its incredible powder snow, with promises of over 15 meters in some prefectures. Regardless of where you ski, you're guaranteed the world's driest, lightest and deepest powder snow.

Japan's northernmost island, Hokkaido, is peppered with phenomenal ski slopes that promise reliable snowfall and soft snow perfect for beginners. Resorts in the region contain traditional Japanese rooms, indoor and outdoor hot tubs and snow gardens for the kids.

JAPAN

Home to some of the world's freshest seafood, dairy and premium beef, as well as dedicated Japanese chefs who perfect age-old recipes for sophisticated palates of travellers today.

FOOD

Japanese cuisine offers a great variety of dishes and regional specialities, each with their own unique culinary traditions. Travelling through the country, you will be in for an unforgettable gastronomic journey. Here's a selection of Japan's most popular foods.

SNOW CRAB

Also known as zawaigani, this delicacy is usually eaten in winter, when harvesting is permitted. Delicately sweet and uniquely flavored, it can be enjoyed fresh, salt-boiled, steamed or in warm soup.

AMAZAKE

Made with malted rice, Amazake is a delicious non-alcoholic sweet drink to not only warm you up after a ski day, it can also help relieve fatigue and prevents cold.

NABE

Stay toasty during winter with this traditional hot pot that is often filled with different kinds of vegetables and protein in a rich dashi chicken broth. This well-balanced meal is traditionally eaten by sumo wrestlers but now commonly enjoyed during winter.

SHIRUKO

A comforting sweet treat in snowy weather, Shiruko is warm red bean porridge topped in melt-in-your-mouth mochi.

CULTURE

Japan is a timeless place where ancient traditions are interwoven with modern life. Although the country appears to be exceedingly modern, it is still deeply connected with its traditional cultural practices. There's more to Japan than meets the eye.

"Japan", Nihon or Nippon in Japanese, means "Land of the Rising Sun". It was once believed that Japan was the first country to see the sun rise in the East at dawn.

Over two billion Japanese comic books, graphic novels and manga are sold in Japan each year.

Cherry blossoms, sakura, are Japan's national flower.

Japanese Haiku poetry consists of only three lines and is the world's shortest poetic form.

Raw horse meat, basashi, is considered a delicacy in Japan, sliced thinly & eaten raw. The Japanese consume about 7,461 tons of horsemeat each year.

The Japanese regard the stomach, hara, as the seat of emotions, where in the West this is considered to be the heart. The Japanese believe that if one takes care of the stomach, life takes care of itself.

THE ULTIMATE SKI HOLIDAY CHECKLIST

Here's everything you'll need for a safe, comfortable and fun trip

Ski Goggles & Sunglasses

A pair of goggles or sunglasses with a tinted, polarised lens will help to protect your eyes.

Helmet

Good helmets are easy to find online or in sports shops. If you don't fancy buying one, rent a good helmet at any Club Med resort.

Puffer Jacket

A lightweight, down feather Puffer jacket can be folded into a palm-sized bundle and is the perfect thing to pull out if the weather takes a turn.

Gloves

Waterproof gloves or mittens are a necessity when it comes to keeping warm on the slopes.

Protective Gear

When moving at high speed, we recommend for you to wear protective gear such as padded shorts, knee and elbow pads, as well as back protectors to minimise injury.

Sunscreen

The sun is more powerful when you're up high. Factor 50 and above sunscreens are recommended on particularly sunny days.

GoPro

With many different mounts available, you'll be able to get your ski footage and photos from multiple angles.

Backpack

Great for carrying your sun screen, warm layers and other extra equipment. Just be careful with any loose straps when using a chairlift.

Thermal Layers

These thin tight-fitting shirts and leggings will hug your body and heat up a thin layer of air between your skin and the fabric.

Weatherproof Outerwear

Ski-specific waterproof and breathable outfits usually come equipped with other useful features for tackling the mountain. You can also rent one your size at any of our Asian mountains*.

Face Mask

Very useful for protecting your face from the elements. Keeps you nice and toasty in extreme cold and protects your face from the sun's rays.

Water Bottle

It's too easy to forget that your body is actually doing some hard work amidst all that fun, so remember to keep hydrated.

Lip Balm

Your lips need sun protection too. A layer of lip balm with SPF will help keep your lips safe from the sun, and the dryness and cracking that comes with cold winds.

Ski Socks

Your socks should be long so that they don't finish inside the boot, and make sure they fit well so that they don't bunch up inside the boot.

Neck Warmer

A good neck warmer is important to provide extra protection against the cold.

Hand Warmer

These warming pads are great on cold days. Placing them nearer to your heart or core can be even more effective than having one in your gloves.

* Rental only available in Club Med ski resorts in China and Japan

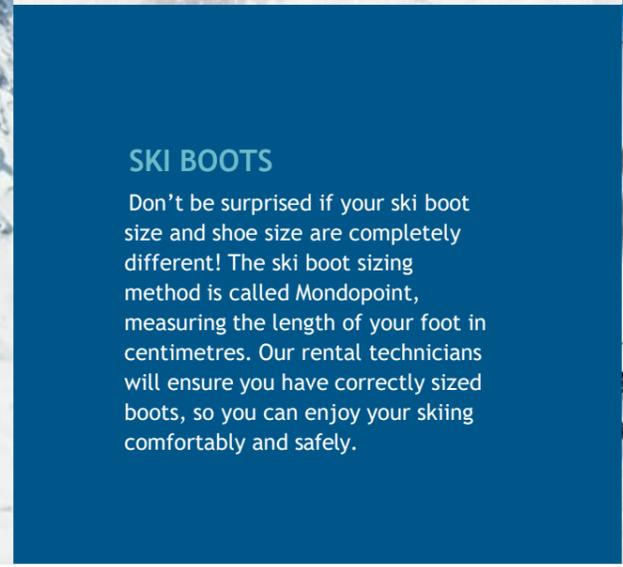

A GUIDE TO SKI AND SNOWBOARD SIZING

Choose the right equipment & maximise your fun on the slopes

SKI BINDINGS

Ski bindings are safety features designed to release your foot if enough force is applied. Don't worry if you're unsure which binding setting is right for you, every Club Med ski resort has rental technicians to ensure they're applied correctly to both skis.

SKI BOOTS

Don't be surprised if your ski boot size and shoe size are completely different! The ski boot sizing method is called Mondopoint, measuring the length of your foot in centimetres. Our rental technicians will ensure you have correctly sized boots, so you can enjoy your skiing comfortably and safely.

SKI SIZES

Your ski size depends on your height, weight & ability, or even your general preference. In general, when you stand your skis upright, the tip should be somewhere between your chin and the top of your head.

As a guide, beginners generally need shorter skis than advanced skiers, for greater control at lower speeds and better sharp turns.

SKIER HEIGHTS (IN)	SKI LENGTHS (CM)

4'6"	125 - 140

SNOWBOARD SIZE

Your body weight and the type of riding you're planning on doing will determine your snowboard size. A good starting point is to get a board that comes up to your chin and then size up or down depending on weight.

The width of the board you choose is measured at the narrowest point of the board and will correspond directly to your boot size. Your toes should hang slightly over the edge of the board.

BEYOND SKIING: THERE'S SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE

Looking for some fun other than ski? Club Med's snow mountain resorts offer a myriad of leisure and non-ski activities, perfect for family bondings and friends. From a relaxing outdoor Canadian bath, snow sledding to nightly entertainment, we've got something for everyone.

Pools and relaxation

From a pampering spa treatment* by our premium spa partners, to a fun time with your family in our pools, your snow mountain vacation is complete with many different facilities that Club Med offers. In Club Med Tomamu Hokkaido, you will also get access to Mina Mina, the largest indoor wave pool in Japan operated by Hoshino Resorts.

When to try: The whole winter season

Snowshoeing

Who knew walking on snow can be a form of exercise? If you are not a ski explorer, opt for an easier sport such as trekking on snow with our G.Os. Quite an art on its own, snowshoeing requires the right footwear so that you can better distribute your body weight on the powder snow as you trek and enjoy the charming mountain surroundings. This activity is great for guests of every fitness level and ages.

Equipment: Snowshoes are available for rental in our resorts
When to try: The whole winterseason

Sledding

Surrounded by the beautiful landscapes of mountain ranges and snow-covered forests, feel the icy cold wind blowing on your face as you slide down the snow hill on a sledge. Perfect for families and children, this activity is available in most of our snow mountain resorts as a bonding activity.

Difficulty: ◆◆◆◆◆
Equipment: Sleds are provided
When to try: January-March where snowfall is thicker

Snowboarding

Looking for some family fun? Snowboarding is perfect for all ages. If you're new to the sport, partake in our group lessons to avoid injuries and get confident on the board. Club Med offers progressive lessons so you can eventually tackle steeper runs, try a few off-piste routes and even learn how to make small jumps if you are a fast learner.

Difficulty: ◆◆◆◆◆
Equipment: Boards are available for rent* in our resorts
When to try: The whole winterseason

If you're after something even more exciting, there are some specialist sports* that will give you a few tales to tell at the bar. Skijoring, which means 'ski driving', involves a skier being pulled along at great speed by a team of dogs or horses over a course that often includes jumps. If you really don't like skis, you could try snow kayaking, in which you negotiate a fast slope sitting in a kayak, or snow tubing in an inflatable ring. For the truly adventurous, night sledding offers thrills and, quite likely, spills as you speed down a mountain in complete darkness, with only a headlamp and blind panic to get you to the bottom. Some of these thrilling activities are available in our selected European ski resorts.

Good luck.

CAPTURING THE BEST OF YOUR SKI TRIP

Whether you have a smartphone, a simple point-and-shoot camera or a professional DSLR, there are a few golden rules to shooting on the slopes. So grab your camera or smart phone, set up your subject and get ready to shoot some serious ski action!

COLD CLIMATE PROTECTION

If it's snowing make sure your camera and lenses are covered up or in a waterproof bag. Try not to keep your camera too warm as whipping it out for that once-in-a-lifetime shot will cause condensation on the lens, giving you a foggy image. Camera batteries also lose their charge in cold conditions, so keep any spare batteries handy.

BEWARE OF EXPOSURE

The brightness of the snow presents a number of challenges for auto modes, under-exposing the image and giving your landscapes a grey tint. If your camera has scene modes, choose the 'snow' or 'snow/beach' setting to bring the snow back to a dazzling white.

CHANGE THE ANGLE

Try going low when capturing the action on the slopes, or even tilting the camera to give you another angle. By adding an element of intrigue to your pictures, you'll keep the attention of your viewers for longer.

ACTION MODE

If your camera has a sport mode, use it. It will give you a faster shutter speed to help you capture the action on the slopes and prevent blur. If you have a DSLR, set it to 1/1000 seconds shutter speed.

USING A GOPRO ON THE SLOPES

You can secure a GoPro on the helmet, the chest or the skis. Also, make sure it's in a waterproof case - even on the back of a ski it will get covered in snow - and pack a spare battery or two.

DECLUTTER YOUR BACKGROUND

Nothing ruins a fantastic shot like a boundary tape and crowds of people. So pay attention to what's in the background and change your angle. Also, check your horizon is level - if all you can see is a slope, tilt the camera slightly to make it look steeper.
